DETAILED ACTIONDouble Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-22 and 38-57 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1, 5, 12-15, 17, 18, 20, 21-41 of U.S. Patent No. 6,566,573. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both sets of claims claim a process for partial oxidation of paraffinic hydrocarbon to olefins by using a catalyst comprising a fiber monolith support. The patented claimed set does not specifically claim that the molar ratio of paraffinic hydrocarbon to oxygen ranges from about 3 to about 13 times the stoichiometric ratio of hydrocarbon to oxygen. However, the patented claimed set claims that the molar ratio of paraffinic hydrocarbon to oxygen ranges from about 3 to about 77 times the stoichiometric ratio. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of skill in the art to use any ratio of from 3-77 including the overlapped ratios.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-22 and 38-57 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yokoyama et al (5,905,180) in view of Corbin et al. (5,306,565)

Yokoyama discloses a process for producing mono-olefins from a paraffinic feed. The feed is reacted with oxygen and catalyst comprising of platinum modified with Sn or Cu and supported on a ceramic monolith. The process of is essentially the same as the claimed process. (See col. 2, line 64 through col. 6, line 27)

Yokoyama does not disclose that the catalyst is supported on a fiber monolith support.

Art Unit: 1764

Corbin discloses a composite ceramic structure comprising fiber-reinforced ceramic body. (See abstract; col. 1, lines 24-25; col. 6, lines 25-27)

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the process of Yokoyama by using a fiber monolith support as taught by Corbin because the fiber-reinforced ceramic body bonded to the monolith prevents catastrophic failure of the monolith.

Response to Arguments

The argument that the Office Action offers no proof that the two groups of invention can be shown to be distinct from each other is not persuasive because the claimed composition can be used in different process such as in an automotive exhausted system. Therefore, the two groups of invention are distinct from each other and the search required for Group II is not required for Group I, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper and therefore made final.
